TRAMP KILLED ON RAILROAD

Michael Sullivan Meets Death on Western Maryland below New Oxford. Two Fellow Tramps Held as Witnesses for Hearing.

Michael Sullivan, a "hobo," was found dead with his skull crushed, along the W. M. R. R., near Bittinger early Friday morning.

It is supposed the man came to his death by being struck by a train while in an intoxicated condition.

The body when found was lying face-down a few feet from the railroad track. Pat McGochran and Frank Dougherty, also tramps, who had been seen with him the night previous are being held in the county jail as witnesses for a hearing to be held at New Oxford Tuesday.

Upon the discovery of the body on Friday morning Justice of the Peace R. M. Straley, of New Oxford, was notified, and when he reached the scene of the tragedy, empaneled the following jury: Leroy Bittinger, Frank Wernick, Leo Stambaugh, Frank Lines and Harry Weaver. After deliberating for some time, and being unable to agree on a verdict, they adjourned to meet next week.

The man was between 35 and 40 years of age, and there was nothing found on his person to indicate where he was from. Not a cent was found in his pockets.

The body was buried this morning in the cemetery at the County Home.

MORE FARMERS' DAY PREMIUMS

One Premium for Largest Family which Comes to Town on that Day. Many More Valuable Prizes are Offered.

The last call for those who want to offer premiums for Gettysburg's Farmers' Day was answered today by a generous response and many more valuable articles have been added to the already large list announced in these columns during the week. Among the most recent additions are the following:

The Beaser and Gettysburg furniture factories will donate a substantial gift which will be announced later. It will be given to the man bringing to town the largest family on Farmers' Day.

Will M. Seligman; for the best twelve ears of pop corn, pair of gentlemen's gauntlet driving gloves; for the person guessing closest to the number of seeds in a sunflower pod to be shown in front of the store, one Calf-Turn shirt.

George Buohl, green grocery store, Carlisle Street; for the best glass of strawberry preserves, one barrel of Jersey sweet potatoes; for the best quart jar of blackberries one gallon of oysters.

George W. Spangler; for the largest six pound apples, one gentlemen's sweater; for the best jar of canned pears, one special fringe toilet; quilt. George Faber, cigar store, Carlisle Street; for the person guessing nearest to the number of beans in a jar, box of five cent cigars; second nearest guesser, briar pipe and pack of tobacco.

Charles A. Blocher; a ten dollar gold filled watch for guessing closest to the number of the works on the inside of the watch; for the best five York Stripes apples, $2.50.

John W. Ziegler; for the best apple pie, $5.00 mesh bag.

Gettysburg Compiler; for the largest five Jonathan apples, $3.00 in cash; for the second best similar exhibit one year's subscription to the Compiler; for the largest long neck pumpkin, $3.00 in cash.

C. B. Myers; for the best jar of pickled peaches, one water set; for the best bottle of catnip, large parlor lamp; for the best tumbler of quince jelly, china berry set.

John D. Lippy; for the best display of quinces, pair of $7.50 trousers.

Preparations are going along rapidly and a big time is anticipated. Both the picture shows will admit free all exhibitors on Farmers' Day and some of the merchants have offered handsome souvenirs which will be given to all purchasers at the time of the one-day fair.

On all sides the work is being pushed. The general publicity campaign will be prosecuted vigorously during the remaining days before the event and it is expected to have the town crowded with visitors who will exhibit and enter into all the festivities of the occasion.

HURT IN RUNAWAY

Frank Lawrence, manager of the Centennial cigar factory, at Mt. Rock, met with a runaway accident in McSherrystown on Friday. The horse caught the line and became unmanageable, starting down Main street on a dead run. When near the Eagle Hotel the wagon struck a telephone pole, throwing the driver out of the wagon and rendering him unconscious for a short while. He was taken to the office of Dr. A. C. Rice, who gave him the necessary medical attention, after which he proceeded home. The shafts of the wagon were broken and the harness torn. No injury was done to the horse which was caught shortly afterward on Main street.

HAD EYE REMOVED

Earl S. Culp has returned from Philadelphia where he had his right eye removed. Mr. Culp sustained an injury to the eye some years ago and it has always given him trouble. Several months ago he underwent an operation which was partially successful but failed to restore the sight of the eye and considerable pain was caused later on. It was finally decided best to remove it to prevent possible trouble for the other eye.

MOTHERS WIRE MRS. ROOSEVELT

Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers Wire Sorrow over Attempted Murder of Colonel Roosevelt. Final Sessions of Convention.

At the closing session of the thirteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers in St. James Lutheran church on Friday evening it was decided to send to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt a telegram expressing the regret of the organization over learning during the week of the attempt on the life of Colonel Roosevelt and expressing also their delight at the news of his expected recovery.

Mrs. Roosevelt is a life member of the Congress of Mothers and at the time the organization met in Washington some years ago, during the presidency of Mr. Roosevelt, they were entertained most hospitably in the White House. At Friday evening's session resolutions were also passed outlining the work of the association and thanking the people of Gettysburg for their entertainment while here. Without exception the delegates were very warm in their appreciation of the manner in which the local Parent Teachers' Association played the part of host. The reception on Thursday afternoon was much appreciated and all were delighted with the automobile trip of Friday afternoon including, as it did, the principal portions of the battlefield, the college and seminary grounds and the major portion of the town.

There are now one hundred individual associations in the state. Of this number twenty seven were formed during the past year. The membership in the state has reached the 4000 mark. The work of the Gettysburg association was most favorably commented upon a number of times during the stay of the Congress here.

One of the most important pieces of legislation with which the state organization is now concerned is the introduction of a bill in the next session of the state legislature providing for the pensioning of mothers having dependent children. The idea is to keep out of almshouses and public orphanages the children who could be better taken care of at their own home provided the funds were available to give them such care. It is estimated that each child, now taken care of by the state, costs three dollars a week and that much better results could be secured by giving this to the mothers who could keep her family together.

Other legislation for which the Congress of Mothers is working is the establishment of a playground at every school house to be kept open all the time for the use of the children.

On Friday evening there were two addresses at the closing session of the convention. Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia president of the National Congress of Mothers, talking on "The Needs of Childhood in Pennsylvania", and Dr. Anna J. McKee, president of Wilson College, on "Adaptation of Education to Changing Social Conditions".

Milton was chosen for the 1913 meeting.

GIVEN MEDALS

At the recent State Sunday School convention in Philadelphia 326 handsome bronze medals were awarded to people who had been officers or teachers in Sunday Schools for fifty years or more. The medals were given through the generosity of John Wamaker and H. J. Heinz. Of the 326 medals three came to Gettysburg. Mr. and Mrs. George Spangler and Miss Annie Danner receiving the tokens of appreciation for faithful service. Thirty one years of Mr. Spangler's Sunday School work he devoted to attention to the duties of superintendent. In addition to the medals which came to Gettysburg the following Adams County people also received them, Rev. L. M. Gardner, York Springs; Joseph Krumrine, H. W. Forrest, William Yount, Miss K. E. Shiner, William Unger, all of Littlestown.

CHANGE ROUTE OF NEW TROLLEY

New Route of Trolley Line from Conewago to New Oxford is now Announced. Extension of Two Miles.

The route of the proposed extension of the line of the Hanover and McSherrystown Street Railway, from the terminus near Conewago Chapel, to New Oxford, has undergone a change.

Another survey was recently made and presented to the State Department. It was approved by Governor Tener on Wednesday. Work on the new road may be commenced this fall.

The new route will be as follows: beginning at a point on private lands in Conewago township at the point of connection with the present line of the street railway of the Hanover & McSherrystown Street Railway Company now constructed; and extending thence in a northwesterly direction upon private property to a point in Slagle's Run, the dividing line between Conewago and Oxford townships. It crosses over the following public roads, to wit: the public road leading from the Edge Grove-Mt. Rock road to Eranstown; the public road leading from Edgemoor to Mount Rock; the public road leading from the Edgemoor-Mt. Rock road to Mt. Misery; the said last mentioned point is the dividing line between the townships of Conewago and Oxford; thence extending in a generally northwesterly direction to a point on private lands 1000 feet east of the public road leading through the village of Irish town and approximately 900 feet southeast of the public road leading from the road running through the village of Irish town to the road leading from Mt. Misery to New Oxford. The proposed extension will be about a mile and three quarters in length.

JAMES BROWN

James Brown died at his home in Hanover at 6 o'clock Friday morning from heart trouble, being in failing health for the past year. He was aged 80 years, 2 months and 9 days.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, of Adams County, and was of Irish descent. His father having come to America from the north of Ireland during the war of 1812. He was born and lived practically all his life in this section, being well known and greatly esteemed by all his acquaintances.

Mr. Brown was married in 1860 to Miss Culetta Zinn, daughter of the late Christian Zinn, of near New Oxford. In 1866 they moved to a home along the Carlisle pike, where both lived up until the death of Mr. Brown, in August, 1894. Mr. Brown was a blacksmith by trade, having spent 62 years at the anvil.

He is survived by a brother, Solomon Brown, and one sister, Mrs. John Maus, both of New Oxford. Also by two children, George C. Brown, and Miss Carrie C. Brown, at home.

Funeral Monday, Oct. 21, services at his late home at 9:30 o'clock. Interment in the New Oxford cemetery, Rev. S. P. Manger, of Grace Reformed church, Hanover, officiating.

Private Sale of Valuable Real Estate

The undersigned will offer for sale her farm at Guernsey station, Adams county, 1 1/2 miles northeast of Biglerville along the P. & R. railroad, containing 60 acres and of choice land for fruit or general farm, improved with a two story brick dwelling, good bank barn and all necessary outbuildings, all in good repair. Two never failing wells of good water, about 75 bearing apple trees, a variety of other fruits, grapes and berries, a small tract of oak and hickory timber on the farm. This property is located in the apple belt. The location makes this a very desirable property. Possession will be given April 1, 1913 with a quantity of hay in the barn.

This property can be inspected at any time and further information be had from MRS. MATILDA BARR, Guernsey, Pa.

ROOSEVELT MAY GO HOME MONDAY

Plans Are Being Made to Leave Hospital.

WAS ALLOWED TO SIT UP

Colonel's Condition Is So Favorable It Is Believed All Danger Is Past. Johnson Calls on Him.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Colonel Roosevelt will leave Chicago for Oyster Bay on Monday or Tuesday of next week. He will travel on one of the slower trains, so that he may enter New York at the station from which the trains to Oyster Bay depart.

This plan was decided upon, with only the qualification that it depended upon Colonel Roosevelt's continued and uninterrupted improvement, which his physicians now confidently expect.

With the danger of blood poisoning virtually past, the physicians for the first time agreed to a comparatively speedy release for the patient. It was thought best for him to travel on one of the slower trains, on the theory that the more frequent stops would give him occasional periods of rest.

Colonel Roosevelt will travel in a private car, and probably will be under the care of Dr. Scurry Terrell, the Dallas physician, who has accompanied him throughout his campaign, and Dr. Alexander Lambert, his family physician.

Others in the party will be Mrs. Roosevelt, Theodore, Jr., Miss Ethel, Philip Roosevelt, the colonel's young cousin; Elbert H. Martin, the secretary, who disarmed Schrank; John McGrath, another of the colonel's secretaries, and Colonel Cecil Lyon, of Texas.

Although Colonel Roosevelt insists that he will shortly be in fit trim to re-enter the campaign, the physicians say he must have a period of absolute rest after he reaches home. Dr. Lambert probably will remain at Oyster Bay for some time, and while the colonel will be permitted to consult with Progressive leaders, it had not been decided definitely that it would be safe for him to take the stump.

The wound in the colonel's chest has healed to such an extent that there is believed to be only one chance in a thousand of his having any further trouble with it. So far as inconvenience from the wound is concerned the patient could be walking about as he pleased.

Governor Johnson was admitted to the colonel's room.
"Keep the fight going full blast, Johnson; don't let our boys slack up in their work because I can't be with them for a few days. Tell the people you speak to I wish I could be out there working with you myself, and that I certainly will be as soon as my doctors will let me."

This was Colonel Roosevelt's parting injunction and encouragement to the Progressive candidate for vice president as the latter left the hospital.

Mrs. Johnson accompanied her husband into the Roosevelt apartments, and after greeting the patient chatted with Mrs. Roosevelt while the candidates heading the Progressive ticket planned the immediate future in short crisp sentences.

The conference continued less than half an hour, but when Governor Johnson emerged his smile was lost in a determined look, a set brow and a vigorous step, which betokened reassurance and encouragement from his chief.

"He looks fine," said Governor Johnson. "I told him so, and I also told him not to worry, that we were doing fine; that the people were awakening to the fact our work was not a voice in the dark idly calling, but a challenge to them to arise to their own responsibilities. He laughed and told me I was making an argument to him in so speaking, and suggested that I save that to give to my audience."

Mrs. Johnson said she thought Colonel Roosevelt looked exceptionally well, and was told by him he felt "better than he looked."

After the departure of Governor Johnson attendants assisted the patient to his feet and he sat in an easy chair for an hour. He said it rested him so much and so relieved him from the monotony of lying in bed, he was going to ask his physicians to allow him to repeat it later in the day.

May Die From Horse's Kick.

SCHRANK WANTS BULLET THAT HIT T. R.

Has Bequeathed It to Historical Society.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 19.—John Schrank, who attempted to kill Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee on Monday night, is as much unruffled as ever.

It was intimated that the reason for having the prisoner's bail increased from $7500 to $15,000 was the result of a plan of certain moving picture men to have him released and placed under heavy guard long enough to obtain a series of picture films. District Attorney Zabell said all efforts in this direction would avail nothing.

For the first time since he was incarcerated Schrank asked how Colonel Roosevelt was. When told his condition was favorable, Schrank asked where the colonel had been shot and if the bullet had been found.

"The bullet belongs to me," said the prisoner. "I have made my will and bequeathed the bullet to the New York Historical society, with a request that it be placed on exhibition in the rotunda of the state capitol at Albany. My property in New York I have willed to my mother in Germany."

When asked again if he was sorry for having shot the colonel, Schrank said he was not; that he considered he had done only his duty.

AVIATORS SHOOT DUCKS

Beachy and Brereton Bag Four in Hydro-Aeroplanes.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Lincoln Beachy, a Curtiss aeroplanist, and Lieutenant L. H. Brereton, an army aviator, went duck hunting in a hydro-aeroplane on the Potomac river.

Beachy operated the machine, while Brereton sat beside him equipped with a repeating shotgun and a belt of 12 gauge shells.

From the hangar of the army war college the aviators flew down the river at a height of 200 feet. As they neared Alexandria, nine miles below Washington, two flocks of ducks arose and were seen to alight again a mile below Alexandria on the Maryland side.

The machine got within a few yards of the ducks before they rose again. Lieutenant Brereton, who is a sportsman, allowed the ducks to get well in the air before resuming the pursuit. Before the ducks had flown half a mile the machine was within fifty yards of them.

While the ducks and the machine were in full flight Lieutenant Brereton opened fire. He got four ducks. The ducks fell into the Potomac river near the central channel. Their fall was watched by the aviators, and as soon as they struck the water Beachy shut off his power and glided to the water.

After the ducks were bagged the machine arose and new back to Washington.

FREED OF MURDER, TRIES TO WED GIRL

Jury Find MacFarland Not Guilty of Wife's Death.

WERE REFUSED A LICENSE

Florence Bromley, the "Woman in the Case," Fails to Produce Divorce Decree When Applying.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 19.—Allison M. MacFarland was acquitted of the murder of his wife, Evelyn, whom he found dead in bed a year ago.

Death was caused by cyanide of potassium and MacFarland was charged with having substituted the poison for a headache solution that his wife was in the habit of taking.

On his first trial MacFarland was found guilty of murder in the first degree, but the verdict was set aside and a new trial ordered.

The verdict had no sooner been announced than MacFarland rushed to the office of his counsel, met there Florence Bromley, his infatuation for whom was attributed a motive for the alleged crime, and hastened with her to the city hall to make application for a marriage license. The license was refused because Miss Bromley did not have with her a copy of the divorce decree which separated her from her first husband, and the pair then drove away with the word that they would postpone their wedding to some other date.

Both MacFarland and Miss Bromley were overjoyed at the turn their affairs had taken. When the acquitted man entered the law office of Frank McDermitt, his counsel, he embraced and kissed the writer of the sensational "Bunny" letters. To a number of reporters he said:

"I am going to marry this young woman as soon as I can get a license. As long as the newspapers are filled with the accounts I might just as well have all the publicity at once. When we are wed we will decide where we will spend our future. Prosecutor Mott committed suicide by means of circumstantial evidence."

In the license clerk's office, when she was asked to show a copy of the decree she said that John A. Daws, Jr., of Hunterdon county, N. J., was her first husband, that he got a divorce on the ground of desertion and that she never had received a copy of the document. She told the reporters that Daws has since married her cousin. This elicited the remark from MacFarland that Daws must like the family. Then they drove away from the city hall rapidly.

The jury deliberated on the evidence against MacFarland for five hours.

GUNMEN BEAT ZELIG SLAYER

Davidson Is Savagely Treated Before Guards Rescue Him.

New York, Oct. 19.—The tale of a free-for-all fight on the "Bridge of Sighs," in which "Red Phil" Davidson, slayer of Jack Selig, the gang leader, was set upon, kicked and beaten by the four gunmen indicted for shooting Herman Rosenthal, was made public.

The gunmen—"Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Dago Frank" and "Whitely Lewis"—handcuffed to deputies, were on their way back to the Tombs from the court room, where Lieutenant Becker is on trial. "Red Phil," similarly manacled, was on his way to the building to plead to the indictment charging him with Zelig's murder. They met in the center of the narrow bridge.

Immediately the gunmen, dragging their keepers with them by concerted action, made for Zelig's slayer. Before the astonished deputies could collect themselves the gunmen had kicked, mauled and beaten Davidson until he was shouting for mercy.

The gunmen were hauled away from their victim in a few seconds and continued, on a run, to their cells. Davidson was badly bruised and was bleeding from one or two cuts on the face.

TRY TO SHOW FRAME-UP

Festifies Gamblers Planned to Shift Blame on Becker.

New York, Oct. 19.—Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker's defense to the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, is that Rosenthal was murdered at the behest of other gamblers, who had him as a meddler and informer to the police.

John H. Hart, Becker's lawyer, in presenting his case to the jury, so declared, adding that he would prove Becker "not only not guilty but absolutely innocent."

One of the chief witnesses was Jack Sullivan, one of the co-defendants with Becker, and he proved a troublesome witness. In direct examination he tried to get in the record a charge, based on alleged conversations with Rose, Vallon and others, that the case against Becker was a frame up, but Justice Goff ruled out many of the questions. Sullivan would answer objectionable questions before the prosecutor could object, and time after time Sullivan appealed to the justice to permit him to talk, and the court in many instances had his answers expunged.

Medical Advertising Saved Daughter's Life

This Father Refused to Let His Daughter Die.

There is a story with a moral that many parents might take to heart:

"My daughter was very pale, nervous, thin, and suffered with severe pain in her back, so that we took her out of school. Her flesh became blue and she could not retain her urine. I spent over $100 for medicines, but she grew worse. Finally I bought a bottle of Thompson's Barosma and she began to grow better right away. Five bottles of Thompson's Barosma made a complete cure, and today she is a perfectly healthy girl. Thompson's Barosma saved her life, for she was failing so fast that death was not far off."—Frank D. Meeder, Pleasantville, Pa.

If you are troubled with backache, headache, weakness in the back, or any liver or kidney trouble, then it's time for Thompson's Barosma.

People's and Huber's Drug Stores sell Thompson's Barosma in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and they guarantee it to cure Bright's disease, high colored urine, bed-wetting, and all other kidney and liver diseases. It will make anyone vigorous in a few weeks, because it is a great tonic and maker of rich red blood. All druggists.

U. S. PLAN TO ABSORB SANTO DOMINGO

It Is Said Marines Sent There
Will Stay.

Washington, Oct. 19.—It was learned from reliable sources that the recent action of the administration in sending Brigadier General Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department; William T. S. Doyle, chief of the Latin American division of the state department, and 750 marines to Santo Domingo, is the beginning of the end of Santo Domingo as a republic.

The administration has a plan for all but annexing Santo Domingo. This plan has been worked out by Secretary of State Knox, Assistant Secretary of State Wilson, General McIntyre and Mr. Doyle and the Dominican minister, Francisco J. Peynado.

The fact leaked out that the present trouble in Santo Domingo is but part of a scheme of political influences in Santo Domingo, dissatisfied with the present fiscal arrangements, to get more money. This element, it is asserted, was not receiving enough of the revenues set aside for the Dominican government by the American supervisor of customs, so started the revolution.

The next step on the part of the state department was the working out of a plan for the control of all the affairs of the Dominican republic. The original plans were somewhat upset by the revolution. But this temporary setback later proved to be just the thing needed for the starting of the plan to absorb Santo Domingo into a colonial possession. It was the landing of marines and the making of a general investigation of Dominican affairs by this government.

Of course, the matter will have to be put up to congress, and if the latter does not balk, authority will be procured for continuing the influence so recently established.

HOSTILE ARMIES ON THE MOVE

Turks Advancing to Meet the Balkan Allies.

ALREADY REPORT BATTLES

Fighting Line Extends 500 Miles and
There Are Many Rumors of Heavy Conflicts.

London, Oct. 19.—Notification that Bulgaria, Servia and Greece had declared war against Turkey was given to the British foreign office by the representatives of those countries in this city.

They handed to the foreign secretary copies of notes which had been dispatched to Constantinople. The only formality now lacking is the declaration of war by Turkey against Greece, which the Ottoman government has appeared reluctant to make.

This detail, however, is not delaying the movements of the various armies. The Turkish and Bulgarian forces are both advancing, and it is thought probable they will meet somewhere in the vicinity of Mustapha Pasha, one of the few passes through the mountains leading from Bulgaria to Macedonia. At the same time the Servian army is on the way to Uskup, where another big battle is anticipated.

In northern Albania, where the Turks and Montenegrins are striving for supremacy, there is a lull in the fighting. This, however, is regarded in military circles as only the lull which precedes the big storm that will break when the two armies come together in the struggle for the possession of the Turkish town of Scutari.

Many rumors are published of heavy fighting on the Bulgarian and Servian frontiers. The Servians, Bulgarians and Turks are alternately credited with victory. A report also has reached London from Vienna that the Montenegrin army has suffered a bad defeat at Podgoritz, on Montenegrin territory. All these reports lack confirmation. On the other hand, a Belgrade dispatch says that the Servian army is proceeding toward Uskup without encountering any resistance.

The Sofia correspondent of the London Times says that the war will be a holy war of creeds rather than of races. It will be a war without mercy and without truce, a war of horrors which will be aggravated by the rigors of a Macedonian winter.

According to a dispatch from Constantinople to the London Chronicle, Turkey utterly rejects Premier Poincaré's proposals for a European conference.

The fighting line extends clear across the Balkan peninsula from the Black sea to the Adriatic sea. This jagged line is over 500 miles long. Troops are engaged along the Montenegrin, Servian and Bulgarian frontiers. Four hundred thousand troops are either in action or are maneuvering for fighting positions.

King Nicholas of Montenegro, King Peter of Servia and Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria have gone to the front to lead their respective armies.

Now that the war has been formally begun, the French press insists upon the necessity of a complete accord among the European powers. The fear is expressed that should covetousness and antagonism develop among the nations of Europe as the result of the opportunities for aggrandizement arising out of the trouble in the Balkan peninsula, the war may see the bloodiest war in history. France's effort to bring about a speedy peace should therefore, it is pointed out, be welcomed by the other countries of Europe. It is believed that the disposition in favor of peace in Vienna and St. Petersburg is for the moment satisfactory as possible, but it is argued that it would be a mistake to be over-optimistic.

Taft MAY GO TO PANAMA

Expected to Visit the Canal Zone Shortly After Election.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 19.—President Taft is contemplating a trip to Panama to inspect the canal. It is probable that after the election he will board a battleship with Mrs. Taft and leave the country for two weeks. If the trip is undertaken it will be so arranged that the president will be back in Washington in time to write his annual message. If the voyage cannot be arranged before December the president may go during the Christmas holidays.

POLICE GUARD WILSON

Threat to Assassinate Him Stirred Pittsburgh Officials.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—The Pittsburgh police spent a nervous night guarding Governor Woodrow Wilson.

In his mail Police Superintendent Thomas A. McQuaide received a letter postmarked Chicago, in which the threat was made that Wilson would be assassinated in Pittsburgh. The letter is signed "Justice."

That such a communication was received was discussed among detectives before McQuaide ascertained that the thing had received publicity. The chief silenced the detectives and declined to show the letter or talk of it.

McQuaide showed his determination to guard Governor Wilson by putting the governor into a police automobile and riding with him from the Union depot to the Duquesne club. Detective Captain O'Brien sat at the other side of Governor Wilson. Four detectives stood upon the steps at each side of the machine so that Wilson was nearly screened from public view. Nothing was said to the Democratic candidate about the threatening letter or the extra police precautions.

Following a dollar dinner, Governor Wilson was put into an automobile, with drawn curtains, and driven to Duquesne Garden, where he spoke to about 8000 persons.

"LIARS LIKE HILLES" CALLED "ASSASSINS"

McCormick Says They Incite
Weak-Minded to Murder.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Medill McCormick, of Chicago, manager of Colonel Roosevelt's western headquarters, caused a sensation when he appeared before the senate sub-committee investigating campaign funds by the epithets he hurled at Charles D. Hilles, the Republican national chairman.

"You were more or less associated with the pre-convention campaign of Colonel Roosevelt, were you not?" asked Senator Clapp. "I was," replied McCormick.

Then he plunged into the reading of his prepared statements, but had not proceeded far when his invectives and epithets aroused a storm of protest among the members of the committee.

"It is difficult for an ordinary man in the compass of ordinary language to combat with the testimony of character assassins and liars like Mr. Hilles—men who, by their falsehoods, incite weak-minded men to actual assassination," was the passage which brought out the protest from the committee, in which Senator Clapp, who is a Progressive, joined.

"That reference has no place here," said Clapp, "and will be expunged from the record."

McCormick argued heatedly that his statement was admissible as evidence, while Senators Oliver and Clapp declined to allow McCormick to read and demanded that he withdraw his words. The statement finally was admitted to the record without being read from the prepared copy.

The reference to the attempt upon Colonel Roosevelt's life was incidental to McCormick's general statement of campaign expenses of the Progressive party in Illinois. Substantially it was as follows:

"So far as I know, the cost of the campaign in Illinois was defrayed by Colonel Chauncey Dewey and myself. I gave Colonel Dewey $16,000. In addition I gave not to exceed $10,000 toward the maintenance of the Chicago general headquarters, inclusive of everything which was given me by friends, but of which I kept no record."

Washington Teachers Waiters.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Fully a half dozen teachers in the public schools of Washington are teachers during the day and waiters in resorts where liquor is sold at night. This is the charge made by R. R. Horner, a member of the board of education, at a meeting of the board. Mr. Horner's charge created a sensation, but he was sustained by Armand W. Scott, a colored attorney, who declared that a personal investigation he had made verified the accusation.

EAST COURT, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE great East Court at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is designed for pageantry surpassing the famous Durbar of India. It will constitute a suitable setting for oriental or modern drama upon a colossal scale. From a huge staircase or from the tops of its encircling walls the visitor to this "Court of Joyousness" will be enabled to witness the pageants that will be a feature of the exposition. The main tower of the court will contain a great pipe organ, with echo organs in the smaller towers; within the center of the court will lie a basin containing groupings of classic statuary, dancing figures, fauns, satyrs and nymphs. Electric scintillators will play upon fountains at night. Tropical shrubs and flowers will contrast with the sterner effect of the colonnades, statuary and facades of the court. In its architecture the East Court, which will lie among the main group of exhibit palaces, will resemble the oriental phase of the Spanish-Moorish architecture.

Special Notice

To the Residents of Gettysburg.

At the last reunion of the Veteran Association of the Sixth New York Cavalry, Sept. 11th., last, it was decided to hold our next meeting at Gettysburg, Pa., God willing, on July 1st, 1913, fifty years from the day we took an active part in the battle. At the reunion a Committee was appointed (of which I am Chairman) to secure accommodations and to that end I appeal to the residents of Gettysburg to give us shelter, and, if convenient, board, but not without reasonable compensation. You were mighty glad to see us on that beautiful afternoon, June 30, 1863; and now be good enough to see that we are cared for. Those who will assist in this matter, please send your address at once to me at the Eagle Hotel, Gettysburg.

W. B. BESLEY.

Vice President and Chairman of Committee

MENAGERIE A COSTLY THING

Captured Animals Cost Circus Men No Small Penny, Though Their Value Is Fluctuating.

"I want to take little 'Georgie' to see the animals," is what every father says when he starts away from home on his annual visit to the circus, and the same bluff goes for little Gwendolen on Commonwealth avenue and little "Mike" at the north end. Fond relatives always are glad of the excuse to teach the youngsters all about the animals—and see the circus themselves—but the chances are that they do not appreciate the true significance of a menagerie. To the circus visitor it means strange animals and thrills, popcorn and peanuts. To the circus company it means something like $750,000, says the Boston Transcript. This figure, however, is by no means arbitrary, for the value of wild beasts fluctuates remarkably. Today the value of a rhinoceros may be $10,000, but let a few more rhinos be hauled from their African lairs and be put on the European market, and the value per animal may drop 50 per cent.

Another thing that affects the valuation of wild animals is the question as to whether they are acclimated or "green." The mortality rate among the latter—animals fresh from the jungle—is exceedingly high. The wild animal that has demonstrated the fact that it can live in a cage, particularly a cage that hops, skips and jumps over the country with a circus, has more than tripled his value.

A fresh chimpanzee from Africa is worth from $300 to $1,000. Let this same chimpanzee prove by his continued existence that cage life is not mortally tedious to him and immediately his value leaps to $2,500.

Another instance is the giraffe. In spite of the fact that it is a rare beast, its market value is only about $7,000. The simple reason for this is that the giraffe in captivity has such a small chance of continued existence that the average showman does not care to gamble $7,000 on it.

The elephant market fluctuates a great deal. The price of a "green" elephant runs from $1,000 to $5,000. Get that elephant used to captivity and his value jumps; but train him to stand on his head, ring a bell, beat a drum or balance himself on a rolling ball, and immediately his value soars. That is why the herd of 40 elephants in one big show is valued at more than $250,000. The animals born each winter in the menagerie of a large circus are worth about $40,000.

Foiling a Briber.

The justice of the peace was in the south and a marked state of ignorance. He was approached by a man desiring a divorce, and he did not know what to do. Calling a friend to his side, he whispered:

"What's the law on this pint?"

"You can't do it," was the reply. "It's out of your jurisdiction."

The husband, observing the consultation and feeling keenly his desire to escape from the matrimonial woe, exclaimed:

"I'm willin' to pay well, got the money right here in my sock."

At this the justice assumed his gravest judicial air. Obviously he was deeply pained. Never before in all his life had he been so bowed down by grief.

"You knew before you came here," he said sadly, "that it wasn't for me to separate husband and wife, and yet you not only take up the valuable time of this court by talking, but you actually propose to bribe me with money. Now, how much have you got in that sock?"

"About $6.50, your honor."

"Is that so? Then I fine you $5 for bribery and $1.50 for taking up my time with a case out of my jurisdiction; and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"—Popular Magazine.

For the last six months the hog feeder has but little more than broken even. If we are to judge the future by the past there is a time coming soon when the hog feeder will make good money.

STRONG PLAYS TO BE FEATURE

"The Pilgrimage" and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book" at Baltimore.

"The Pilgrimage," an Arabian play, and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," an American Indian drama, will be given in the Missionary Play Hall of "The World in Baltimore," to be held from October 25 to November 30, at the Lyric theatre, Baltimore. Both of these plays are unusual, demanding many participants, the requirement of people for both being three hundred and fifty.

Beautiful incidental music will accompany these plays, the weird strains of Indian lyrics being heard in one, and mystical Oriental strains supporting the other.

The scene of "The Pilgrimage" is laid at Jiddah, the port of Mecca, at the time when the whole Moslem World makes its annual pilgrimage to the tomb of Mohammed. The populace becomes aroused over the conversion to Christianity of several natives, especially that of a young Mohammedan student of high caste, which is the work of Missionaries who have been working in Jiddah. Several perilous situations are encountered through the attitude of the natives to the Missionaries and their friends. The acknowledgment of a gradual conversion to Christianity is made by an high caste Professor of Mohammedanism, whose wife, a princess of high degree, finally joins him in sacrificing all dear to tradition among their native people, as well as their riches, for the sake of The Christ.

The wonderful longing for the "White Man's Book of Heaven," the Bible, is demonstrated in the play "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," when, in 1838, a delegation of American Indians went from the Oregon country to St. Louis for "The Book," long before promised by the white men who had passed their way.

Several short plays, lasting something less than an hour each, will also be given. In "Sun-Light or Candle-Light" the scene is laid in Japan; "Election Day" takes one to the moonshine district of our own country;

Torii and Temple, Japan Scene, "The World in Baltimore."

China is the scene of "School-Girl and Slave Girl," "Kosiki" is located in Korea, and a fifth play has its scene in Africa. The best talent obtainable in Baltimore has been secured for these plays, which are short enough to be snappy and interesting, yet intensely dramatic. Motion pictures, the best collection it has been possible to secure, will be shown. These rare pictures for the most part have been taken by special representatives for missionary societies especially to illustrate conditions in foreign lands.

BALTIMOREANS FINANCE MISSIONARY EXHIBITION

"The World in Baltimore" Exposition, which will be opened in the Lyric theatre and a specially constructed hall, Baltimore, from October 25 to November 30, is under the management of committees of Baltimore men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable all expenses to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of missionary education. The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

SPECIAL BUILDING ERECTED

No public hall in Baltimore was large enough for the Exposition, "The World in Baltimore," to be held there October 25-November 30, so a special hall was built for the purpose. This hall will be the Hall of Nations; the Lyric theatre will be used for the pageant, plays, etc.

A RESTAURANT FOR USE OF THE VISITORS.

A well equipped restaurant under the management of one of the best caterers in Baltimore, where meals and refreshments may be obtained by visitors at fair prices, will be maintained at "The World in Baltimore" Exposition, October 25 to November 30, and it is expected that this feature will add no little to the pleasure of those who attend.

The Postcard Habit.

"Well, Hiram, your summer boarders seem to have about everything they want."

"They're fairly content, I only overlooked one point. Forgot to provide any postcards of such points of interest as the henhouse and the pump."

Another Blow at Tradition.

"I don't believe," said Mr. Growcher, "that nature intended the country to be used as a picnic ground."

"Why not?"

"If she had she would have arranged to grow sardines, hard-boiled eggs and lemonade as local products."

SURE THING.

The Major—Do you think balloons and airships will be useful in war? The General—They'd be fine things for deserters.

Patriot Perils.

To private life, in this unresting land, How many public servants hold have gone! It's difficult to get an office and Considerably more so to hold on.

Heartthrobs.
